

Jennifer Holdaway (left) and Bonnie Skuppin (right) review the food inventory.

CAFETERIA STAFF

Tonya Slaughter, the head of the cafeteria team, was in her second year working at West, and sixth year working in the Salt Lake City School District. Her favorite thing to cook was enchiladas, because “it’s the fastest to serve to almost thousands of kids.” Tonya’s favorite part of her job was “the staff because they’re the most crazy, loud, and fun staff ever.”

Felicia Valdez stands next to the enormous ice machines.

The serving area decorated for Halloween / Día De Los Muertos

OUR CUSTODIAL TEAM

Ronnie Johnson, head custodian, brought a positive attitude to work every day. The team was always prepared and did their best work to keep the school a tidy place. Student Samuel Thomas (11) noted that “a clean school can let me focus on my grades.” Our custodial staff worked day and night to allow our students to learn. Our day shift team mostly focused on the cafeteria and commons, as well as helping teachers move heavy things they need. The night crew, on the other hand, silently swept the halls and bathrooms clean after all the students had left for the day. Teachers and students were always appreciative of the custodial team and all they did to help students learn and teachers teach!

Custodian William Robles pilots a Tomcat Pro™ floor sweeper after school hours, keeping our floors sparkling clean!

Did you know that the Distribution Center was once used as a weight training room? That's why "HOUSE OF PAIN" is painted on the wall. Neat!

THE DISTRIBUTION CENTER

13

The Distribution Center, also known as Cinderella's Closet, was the one-stop shop to collect whatever class materials you needed. Whether it was a textbook, laptop, or making copies (for teachers at least), this was the place to go. Yes, often times it took time to stand in line in order collect what you needed, but it was worth it in the end when you finally got to take home the materials you collected for the year. Just don't forget to return them!

MS. DOROTHY DRAPER, a Distribution Center overseer, checking out a copy of Paradise of the Blind to Maxwell Majersik (12).

WEST: REBUILT?

30 years ago, our building underwent a significant remodel and gained a new addition: the Tech wing. 15 years ago, they started looking at another significant remodel. Two years ago, the school district and West admin began discussing how to make the building serve the student population as best as possible. In 2023, they began planning out a full-scale rebuild, as the building crossed its 100-year anniversary. Dr. Wright stated: "This building has run its course. It was designed a hundred years ago - actually 105 years ago. Education has changed a little bit, the world's changed since then."

Such a massive multimillion-dollar project takes years to plan, and even more years to construct. Many students at West this year will not even have the chance to attend school in this planned new building; but West High is thinking towards the future - and we're all excited for what's to come.

THE TUNNELS UNDER THE SCHOOL

THE CURRENT BUILDING'S FACADE

